VIA ECFS

November 16, 2015

Ms. Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, S.W.
Washington, DC  20554

Re:  In the Matter of Special Access for Price Cap Local Exchange Carriers; AT&T Corp. Petition for Rulemaking to Reform Regulation of Incumbent Local Exchange Carrier Rates for Interstate Special Access Services, WC Docket No. 05-25, RM-10593

Dear Ms. Dortch:

In response to the Wireline Competition Bureau’s Public Notice of November 6, 2015,¹ CenturyLink respectfully objects to the disclosure of its Confidential and Highly Confidential Information and Data to Neil Stevens,² under the Data Collection Protective Order in WC Docket No. 05-25 and RM-10593.³ Attached hereto is a copy of the correspondence CenturyLink filed in the above-referenced dockets on October 27, 2015 that objected to access being provided to Mr. Stevens to CenturyLink’s Confidential and Highly Confidential

---

¹ Public Notice, Additional Parties Seeking Access to Data and Information Filed in Response to the Special Access Data Collection, WC Docket No. 05-25 and RM-10593, DA 15-1254 (rel. Nov. 6, 2015).

Information and Data. CenturyLink requests that its October 27, 2015 objection be incorporated by reference and accepted in response to the November 6, 2015 Public Notice.

The Wireline Bureau noted in footnote 3 of the November 6, 2015 Public Notice the definition of “Participant” under the Data Collection Protective Order in WC Docket No. 05-25 and RM-10593. And, CenturyLink noted in its October 27, 2015 objection that under this definition, neither Mr. Stevens nor his employer (RedState.com) is a “Participant” in WC Docket No. 05-25 and RM-10593. Given that Mr. Stevens (as well as RedState.com) is not a “Participant” in the Special Access proceeding, he is not entitled to access CenturyLink’s Confidential and Highly Confidential Information and Data under the Data Collection Protective Order.

For these reasons and those provided in its October 27, 2015 submission, CenturyLink objects to the Acknowledgements of Confidentiality filed by Neil Stevens and requests that the Commission decline to authorize Mr. Stevens’ access to CenturyLink’s Confidential or Highly Confidential Information and Data in the above-captioned proceedings.

Sincerely,

/s/ Craig J. Brown

Encls. (copy of CenturyLink’s October 27, 2015 Letter and November 16, 2015 certificate of service)

---

5 Data Collection Protective Order, Appendix A ¶ 1.

6 See page 2 of the attached October 27, 2015 CenturyLink Objection (“a person or entity that has filed, or has a good faith intention to file, material comments in this proceeding.”)
CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I, Ross Dino, do hereby certify that I have caused the foregoing OBJECTION OF CENTURYLINK to be:

1) Filed with the Wireline Competition Bureau of the FCC via ECFS in WC Docket No. 05-25, RM-10593; and

2) Served via first-class U.S. Mail, postage prepaid, and/or via electronic mail on the person and FCC mailbox identified on the attached service list.

/s/ Ross Dino
Ross Dino

November 16, 2015
Neil Stevens
Red State
POB 15238
Arlington, VA 22215
neil@redstate.com

SpecialAccess@fcc.gov
VIA ECFS

October 27, 2015

Ms. Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, S.W.
Washington, DC 20554

Re: In the Matters of Special Access for Price Cap Local Exchange Carriers; AT&T Corp. Petition for Rulemaking to Reform Regulation of Incumbent Local Exchange Carrier Rates for Interstate Special Access Services; Technology Transitions; AT&T Petition to Launch a Proceeding Concerning the TDM-to-IP Transition, WC Docket No. 05-25, RM-10593, GN Docket Nos. 13-5, 12-353

Dear Ms. Dortch:

CenturyLink respectfully objects to the disclosure of its Confidential and Highly Confidential Information and Data to Neil Stevens, under the Data Collection Protective Order, Second Protective Order, and Modified Protective Order in WC Docket No. 05-25, and the

______________________________

Technology Transitions Protective Order and Second Technology Transitions Protective Order in GN Docket Nos. 13-5 and 12-353 (collectively, the Protective Orders).³

Each of the three Protective Orders governing access to Highly Confidential Information (the Data Collection Protective Order, Second Protective Order, and Second Technology Transitions Protective Order) limits access to such information to Outside Counsel of Record, Outside Consultants, and certain of their associated employees.⁴ Mr. Stevens does not fit within any of these definitions, as he is not an “Outside Counsel” or “Outside Consultant” for any Participant in this proceeding, nor is he employed by such an Outside Counsel or Outside Consultant. Nor does Mr. Stevens represent or otherwise consult for any Participant in the proceedings in question.

Moreover, neither Mr. Stevens nor his employer (RedState.com) is a “Participant” in the above-captioned proceedings. Under the Protective Orders, a “Participant” is defined as “a person or entity that has filed, or has a good faith intention to file, material comments in this proceeding.”⁵ Mr. Stevens and RedState.com have made no submissions in these proceedings, other than Mr. Stevens’ submission seeking access to Confidential and Highly Confidential Information and Data. In fact, based on a search of the Commission’s Electronic Comment Filing System, it appears that neither Mr. Stevens nor RedState.com has ever made a filing in a Commission proceeding. Nor has Mr. Stevens asserted that RedState.com is seeking access to the Confidential and Highly Confidential Information and Data so that it can file material comments in these proceedings.

But, even if RedState.com or Mr. Stevens attempted to make such a good faith showing, a simple statement expressing an intention to file comments would not be sufficient. Given that RedState.com, which is a political blog, has never participated in the above-captioned proceedings, Mr. Stevens would need to demonstrate that RedState.com has the ability to submit “material” comments—i.e., comments that would make use of the highly sensitive (and, often, highly technical) data filed pursuant to the Protective Orders. This is particularly true for data submitted in the Special Access Data Collection, which includes some of the submitting companies’ most competitively sensitive information, and for which the Commission has taken extraordinary steps to limit access to outside counsel and consultants truly engaged in the \textit{Special Access} proceeding. Allowing access to such data to RedState.com would be inconsistent with both the terms and intent of the \textit{Protective Orders} to protect this critically sensitive business information.

⁴ See, e.g., Data Collection Protective Order, Appendix A ¶ 5.
⁵ See, e.g., Data Collection Protective Order, Appendix A ¶ 1.

Given that Mr. Stevens (as well as RedState.com) is not a “Participant” in the \textit{Special Access} or \textit{Technology Transitions} proceedings, Mr. Stevens also is not entitled to access Confidential Information under the \textit{Modified Protective Order} or \textit{Technology Transitions Protective Order}. In addition, the \textit{Modified Protective Order} permits access only by Counsel, who, in turn, may share those materials with outside consultants or experts, but only if those outside consultants or experts were “retained for the purpose of assisting Counsel[.]”\textsuperscript{6}

Mr. Stevens is also precluded from obtaining access to information pursuant to the \textit{Technology Transitions Protective Order} and \textit{Second Technology Transitions Protective Order} because his acknowledgements are invalid. While those acknowledgements refer to the docket numbers in the \textit{Technology Transitions} proceeding, the text of the acknowledgements appears to be from the \textit{Data Collection Protective Order} in the \textit{Special Access} proceeding.\textsuperscript{7}

For all these reasons, CenturyLink objects to the Acknowledgements of Confidentiality filed by Neil Stevens and requests that the Commission decline to authorize Mr. Stevens’ access to Confidential or Highly Confidential Information and Data in the above-captioned proceedings.

Sincerely,

/s/ Craig J. Brown

Encl. (certificate of service)

\textsuperscript{6} \textit{Modified Protective Order} ¶ 10.

\textsuperscript{7} See Stevens Acknowledgements at 6-7.
CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I, Ross Dino, do hereby certify that I have caused the foregoing OBJECTION OF CENTURYLINK to be:

1) Filed with the Wireline Competition Bureau of the FCC via ECFS in WC Docket No. 05-25, RM-10593, GN Docket No. 13-5, GN Docket No. 12-353; and

2) Served via first-class U.S. Mail, postage prepaid, and/or via electronic mail on the person and FCC mailbox identified on the attached service list.

/s/ Ross Dino
Ross Dino

October 27, 2015