Reclassify The Internet As A Common Carrier.

Executives at large corporations must squelch competition in order to keep their jobs. America relies on innovation and cannot afford to have the Internet at the mercy of organizations part of whose function is to nip smaller competitors in the bud. And I can't afford it either!