I support net neutrality. Everyone should have the opportunity to have quality fast internet without an extra charge. As health and educational resources are becoming more readily available, and individuals in low income and/or rural setting have improved access to these resource, anything against net neutrality would be harmful to these and similar populations.