High-level rules come down from the cloud via cloud computing this requiring transparency and prohibiting blocking and unreasonable discrimination to protect Internet openness.

Using defined Internet openness should usher in a system whereby prohibitions will be a thing of the past. Like 1920's N.Y.. Only this time the world has access limited to a DNA code of the individual operating such interface machines.