Comment Date: May 28, 2016

The United States Department of Justice, Antitrust Division (the Department), is investigating the proposed acquisition by Verizon Communications Inc. of XO Communications, LLC.<sup>1</sup> For the purpose of assisting in that investigation, the Department has requested access to the confidential and highly confidential information submitted in WC Docket No. 05-25, RM-10593, WC Docket No. 15-247, WC Docket No. 16-70, and WC Docket No. 16-143, as well as any confidential and highly confidential information that is submitted under those dockets during the pendency of the Department's investigation of the proposed acquisition.<sup>2</sup>

In general, the Commission may share information it has collected with another government agency pursuant to 44 U.S.C. § 3510. Section 3510 provides that all provisions of law that relate to the unlawful disclosure of information apply to the employees of the agency to which the information is shared. Although the Commission's regulations provide that proprietary and commercially sensitive information will be withheld from public disclosure, subject to the public's right to seek disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act and implementing regulations, 5 U.S.C. § 552, 47 CFR § 0.457(d), 0.459(d), the Commission may disclose to other federal agencies records that have been submitted to the Commission in confidence upon another agency's request pursuant to 47 CFR § 0.442(d).

The Department states in its request that its policy is to protect the confidentiality of sensitive information and to prevent competitively sensitive information from being shared among competitors. As stated in the request, sensitive information includes “confidential business information,” which means trade secrets or other commercial or financial information (1) in which the company has a proprietary interest or which the company received from another entity under an obligation to maintain the confidentiality of such information, and (2) which the company has in good faith designated as confidential. The Department further states that sensitive information will be used by it only for a legitimate law enforcement purpose and that it is the Department’s policy not to disclose sensitive information unless it is required by law or is necessary to further a legitimate law enforcement purpose. In its request, the Department states that in its experience, the need to disclose sensitive material occurs rarely. The Department maintains that, although its policy is not to use sensitive information in complaints or accompanying court papers unnecessarily, it cannot provide an absolute assurance that sensitive information will not be included in such documents. The Department states, however, that, if it is necessary to disclose any confidential business information in court filings, then its policy is to notify the affected party as soon as is reasonably practicable, to file such information under seal, to advise the court that the information has been designated as confidential, and to make reasonable efforts to limit disclosure of the information to the court and to outside counsel for the other parties to the litigation until the affected party has had a reasonable opportunity to appear before the court and the court has ruled on any request by the affected party.

The Department further states that, if a request is made under the Freedom of Information Act or any other provision of law for the disclosure of confidential business information, it is the Department’s policy to assert all applicable exemptions from disclosure, including those exemptions set forth in 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(4), (b)(7)(A), and (b)(7)(D) (to the extent applicable).<sup>3</sup> Further, the Department states that its policy is to use its best efforts to provide concerned parties with such notice as is practicable prior to the release of any confidential business information to any third party who requests it under any provision of law other than the Freedom of Information Act. The Department also states that, if confidential business information becomes the subject of discovery in any litigation to which the Department is a party, then it is the Department’s policy to use its best efforts to ensure that a protective order applicable to the information is entered and to not voluntarily provide the information until concerned parties have had a reasonable opportunity to review and comment on the protective order and to apply to the court for further protection. The Department states that its policy is to not oppose a court appearance by concerned parties for this purpose.

Pursuant to the Commission’s regulations in 47 CFR § 0.442, affected parties have ten days from the date of this public notice to oppose the Department’s request for access to confidential and highly confidential information submitted in the above-referenced dockets. If the Commission receives no opposition from affected parties within ten days of this public notice, then the Commission will disclose the information requested above to the Department. If disclosure is opposed, then the procedures set forth in 47 CFR § 0.442 will apply.

Pursuant to sections 1.415 and 1.419 of the Commission’s rules, 47 CFR §§ 1.415, 1.419, interested parties may file comments on or before the date specified above.
