

This is a fixed station, point-to-point microwave link for our communications from the pad to the network switch at the spaceport America during Falcon 9 reusability testing.