

To further develop propulsive landing of the Dragon Commercial Crew capsule, a series of tests will be performed by lifting the capsule using a large crane and dropping the capsule to test the propulsion system. This radio license will provide communication between the Dragon Commercial Crew capsule and the test equipment on the ground.