

Description of Research Project and Application Change Notes

R&D for possible use by forward-deployed US Army units. Mobile emitter will be integrated on a General Atomics Unmanned Aerial System and tested while airborne in Yuma Proving Grounds. Emitter is being developed under R&D for possible use by forward-deployed US Army units. This effort is NOT associated with any government contract and therefore does not have a government contract number.

This application is an extension of the previously filed application (file number: 1553-EX-ST-2020). The changes made to this application is the Best Contact information.