

The research project will demonstrate a suite of sensor capabilities to geolocate ground operations. The aircraft will house multiple sensor packages. The requested authorization will be used to provide data essential to the project, but is not part of the capability demonstration.