FCC Letter of Request for Confidentiality

Attached to this application are the conclusions for the tests we performed at our US facility related to a concern of abnormal spurs on a single RPS-42 system. We spent considerable hours testing and analysing the data. We were able to confirm it was an issue isolated to a single unit and is a hardware fault.

Given the nature of the test procedure and specific results, RADA Technologies, LLC is requesting that the FCC keep the PDF with the test data and results confidential as such information is considered competitive sensitive information. Also attached is a more detailed letter from our legal team detailing the need for confidentiality.

Thank you,
