

EXHIBIT A – PROPOSED EXPERIMENT & JUSTIFICATION FOR STA

Background and Description of Testing

AST & Science, LLC (“Applicant” or “AST SpaceMobile”), pursuant to Section 5.61 of the Federal Communications Commission’s (“FCC’s” or “Commission’s”) Rules, 47 C.F.R. § 5.61, hereby requests Special Temporary Authority (“STA” or “Authority”) to test off-the-shelf cellular handsets acting as mobile earth stations located in the conterminous United States. Such testing will occur in cooperation with AT&T Mobility Spectrum LLC on behalf of its applicable wireless affiliates (collectively “AT&T”), employing AST SpaceMobile’s initial five (5) commercial non-geostationary orbit (“NGSO”) satellites (“Block 1 Bluebirds” or “BB1s”), operating from Low- Earth Orbit (“LEO”) to communicate with handsets inside AT&T’s footprint in the Lower 700 MHz and 850 MHz band as specified in Attachment A.<sup>1</sup> AST SpaceMobile seeks Authority for a period of 180 days beginning not later than November 30, 2024. Consistent with the standards set forth in Part 5 of the Commission’s Rules, AST SpaceMobile outlines below its need for the requested Authority, and how experimentation conducted under the Authority will advance the radio art.

Under existing experimental authority, AST SpaceMobile has been actively testing off-the-shelf terrestrial mobile handsets with its experimental BlueWalker 3 (“BW3”) satellite since 2022.<sup>2</sup> For the next phase of testing, AST SpaceMobile hereby requests Authority to evaluate the BB1s’ ability to transmit, process, and receive communications to and from terrestrial mobile handsets inside AT&T’s Lower 700 MHz and 850 MHz geographic footprints.

Such Authority will enable AST SpaceMobile and AT&T to collect additional real-world inputs to validate the technical interference analysis that will accompany AST SpaceMobile’s Part 25 modification application seeking permission to offer commercial broadband wireless service under the FCC’s recently adopted Supplemental Coverage from Space (“SCS”) service rules, which will pave the way for the launch and operation of AST SpaceMobile’s complete constellation to facilitate nationwide direct-to-device (“D2D”) communications in partnership with AST SpaceMobile’s terrestrial wireless partners. Critically, and as discussed below in the justification for STA, the proposed tests will also enable AST SpaceMobile to expeditiously support first responders during the pendency of its commercial authority.

Authority is needed to allow AST SpaceMobile to evaluate the performance of the Block 1 Bluebirds with commercially available, off-the-shelf handsets, as further described in Exhibit B (Technical Information). Mobile handsets will be tested under multiple controlled test scenarios in test areas selected in close coordination with AT&T [REDACTED]

<sup>1</sup> 47 C.F.R. § 5.61(a)(1). AST SpaceMobile successfully launched its Block 1 Bluebirds on September 12, 2024, pursuant to authority granted by the Commission under Call Sign S3065.

Subject to AT&T’s prior consent, mobile handset testing will initially be conducted across the conterminous United States under the call signs reflected in Attachment A to this exhibit.

Consent from AT&T to use certain licenses, including those set forth in this application for STA, will be provided in a supplemental consent letter to the instant application prior to AST SpaceMobile initiating testing.

Interference Analysis

AST SpaceMobile will utilize the proposed testing to provide real-world data demonstrating that SCS services will complement AT&T’s existing network while avoiding harmful interference to non-partner licensees and AT&T itself.

In addition to carefully coordinating with AT&T to ensure that the proposed testing occurs solely in approved geographic areas and frequencies, the BB1s under test will employ interference mitigations to protect other authorized spectrum uses, including:

- Protection Zones: BB1s generate hexagonal service link beams or cells on the ground with a 24 km radius and 48 km diameter. To ensure geographically adjacent FCC licensees not involved in the instant test enjoy protection from co-channel interference, AST SpaceMobile will mute the downlink transmissions in beams/cells adjacent to the boundary of AT&T’s Lower 700 MHz and 850 MHz network footprints, effectively creating a 48 km minimal separation distance or protection zone around the entire area under test, and with respect to the international borders with Canada and Mexico, AST SpaceMobile will mute the downlink transmissions in two hexagonal cells, effectively creating a 96 km minimal separation distance. Figure 1 illustrates the implementation of the contemplated protection zones (white cells).

- Compliance with Field Strength Limits: The co-channel median field strength limit in the Lower 700 MHz and 850 MHz frequencies involved in the proposed test will not exceed the routine 40 dB $\mu$ V/m limit at any given point along the boundary of AT&T's licensed areas.<sup>3</sup> The BB1s' ability to comply with these Part 22 and Part 27 field strength limits is largely attributable to the precise beam forming enabled by the satellites' large phase array antenna [REDACTED]
- Compliance with Aggregate OOB Limits: With respect to protecting adjacent band authorized spectrum uses during the proposed tests, AST SpaceMobile will ensure that its aggregate OOB levels space-to-Earth fall below the -120 dBW/m<sup>2</sup>/MHz limit (" -120 limit") adopted by the FCC for SCS operations.<sup>4</sup> Given that AST SpaceMobile's constellation is designed to meet the -120 limit when fully deployed with 248 satellites, discrete testing with five (5) Bluebird spacecraft should fall well below the limit. Nevertheless, AST SpaceMobile will carefully monitor aggregate levels of OOB during times when satellite downlink beams might overlap to ensure that real-world OOB levels comply with the rules.
- Off-the-Shelf Handsets & Closed User Group: Uplink operations will not present an interference threat because AST SpaceMobile and AT&T will only employ off-the-shelf handsets for service link testing, and such handsets will only be given to a closed user group that AST SpaceMobile will carefully supervise. Individual handsets under test will also be configured to operate on AT&T's network and frequencies and should not present an interference threat even in the unlikely event that an end user attempts to use one outside of AT&T's network footprint.

The mitigation measures above will provide comprehensive interference protection for all Lower 700 MHz and 850 MHz stakeholders, and no third party will be affected or prejudiced by favorable FCC action on the instant application for STA.

Gateway Earth Station Operations

Gateway earth station operations using V-Band frequencies will be conducted pursuant to special temporary authority applied for under a separate application [REDACTED]

Justification for STA

Consistent with the standards set forth in Section 5.61 of the FCC’s rules, grant of STA is appropriate in the instant circumstances and serves the public interest.

First, the proposed operations are appropriate under STA. The Part 25 SCS rules were only adopted earlier this year, and represent the FCC’s first effort to implement its “single network future” seamlessly blending terrestrial and satellite networks.<sup>5</sup> Given the complexity of this new class of service and the need to protect incumbent operations that hundreds of millions of Americans rely on daily, the FCC was acutely aware that Part 5 authorizations would serve a critical role in the implementation of SCS networks.<sup>6</sup>

Second, the instant circumstances serve the public interest. The Commission has expressly acknowledged the dramatic public interest benefits of SCS D2D services, including its ability to fill coverage gaps and to aid first responders, and has stated that it wants to deliver these benefits “as rapidly as possible.”<sup>7</sup> Prompt grant of the proposed Authority will advance the Commission’s unambiguous goal of rapidly deploying SCS services.

In addition to advancing the FCC’s general goal of rapidly deploying SCS services, expeditious treatment of the instant application will also have meaningful and immediate benefits for first responders, both domestically and internationally.<sup>8</sup> One of AST SpaceMobile's highest priorities remains providing voice and data services to first responders reacting to natural and manmade disasters that damage or degrade terrestrial infrastructure. In the coming months, with the BB1s nearing operational status, AST SpaceMobile will aggressively look for opportunities to provide such service pursuant to experimental authority, and hopes to simultaneously provide immediate help to first responders while also learning how the BB1s perform in situations where ground infrastructure may not work or may be seriously impaired and overhead D2D satellites form the principal transmission medium for communications on the ground instead of an auxiliary medium.

<sup>6</sup> See, e.g., SCS Report and Order at ¶ 13, explaining that Part 5 authorizations played an important role in providing technical inputs and acknowledging that such short-term authorizations would continue to be acted upon.

Third, favorable treatment of the instant request for STA will not prejudice any third-party or create harmful interference to other authorized spectrum users. As explained above, testing will only occur on frequencies and within cells in geographies already licensed to AT&T, and for which express consent to test has been obtained. The instant testing will also continue using mobile handsets under the same technical conditions set forth in AST SpaceMobile's existing experimental grant.<sup>9</sup> Finally, AST SpaceMobile has implemented comprehensive interference protections that protect geographically adjacent co-channel uses, spectrally adjacent uses from OOBE, and maintain close oversight over the closed user group with handsets under test.

Justification for Number of Devices Under Test

AST SpaceMobile seeks permission to operate up to 2,000 end user handsets, which is the minimum number of devices necessary for successfully accomplishing AST SpaceMobile's test objectives. AST SpaceMobile's eventual commercial deployment will involve a global constellation of satellites serving the entirety of the conterminous United States as well as numerous other jurisdictions around the world. Such a super-scale deployment necessitates that AST SpaceMobile test its satellites and end user handsets in a variety of configuration with a diverse range of real-world settings, [REDACTED]

<sup>8</sup> AST SpaceMobile appreciates that as a U.S. authorized NGSO constellation, short-term emergency communications space-to-ground require FCC approval in remote jurisdictions, as well as a cooperating mobile network operator in the relevant jurisdiction.

AST SpaceMobile's proposed test program will simulate such real-world scenarios, which will require the operation of a commensurate number of handsets in diverse geographies.

Grant of Authority will serve the public interest by allowing AST SpaceMobile to continue refining its D2D technology, furthering its mission to bring mobile broadband to Americans in underserved and unserved markets and enhancing communications in the context of emergency and disaster response nationwide through space-based communications infrastructure. While AST SpaceMobile has already achieved significant milestones in its testing of the BW3, testing on its BB1s with the requisite additional authority will enable AST SpaceMobile to conduct critical testing to inform refinements to its technology for future blocks of satellites in its complete planned constellation. In turn, this will support AST SpaceMobile's mission to bring 5G broadband connectivity to Americans in underserved and unserved markets and first responders nationwide. Moreover, grant of this application will not adversely impact other authorized users of spectrum as testing will only occur on licensed frequencies with the consent of the licensees and comprehensive interference protections will protect other authorized spectrum uses. For these reasons, AST SpaceMobile kindly requests the Commission to grant the Authority.<sup>10</sup>
