ACCESS SERVICE9. OPERATOR SERVICES9.1 General

Operator Services described in this Section will be provided to customers as an additional feature in conjunction with Feature Group C (FGC) or Feature Group D (FGD) Switched Access Services from Fidelity Telephone Company Operator Service switching location. Operator Services include Operator Transfer and Inward Operator Assistance functions which enable a customer to provide operator related services to their end users. A customer may order both Operator Transfer and Inward Assistance services or may order them individually. A request by a customer's operator for Inward Operator Assistance service in a particular instance will be deemed an order for such service and billed to the customer in accordance with 17.2.4. The customer in this section will refer to Interexchange Carriers (ICs).

(C)

Rates and charges for Operator Transfer and Inward Assistance services are set forth in 17.2.4. The application of rates for Operator Transfer and Inward Assistance service is described in 9.2 following. Telephone Company Operator Service switching locations which provide Operator Transfer and Inward Operator Assistance functions are identified in National Exchange Carrier Association, Inc. Tariff F.C.C. No. 4.

9.1.1 Description of Services(A) Operator Transfer Service

Operator Transfer Service is an originating service that provides call routing of 0- (the digit 0 with no additional digits) interLATA calls to a participating customer as requested by the calling end user. Operator Transfer Service is provided when an end user dials "0" and is routed to Fidelity Telephone Company's operator requesting assistance in completing an interLATA call.

When a 0- call originates from an end office not converted to equal access, the operator will transfer the 0- call, via FGC, to AT&T. When a 0- call originates from an end office converted to equal access, the operator will ask the end user to identify the participating customer to which they desire to be connected. The operator will then transfer the 0- call, via FGD, along with Automatic Number Identification to the designated customer.

If the end user has no preference, the end user will be asked to select from a list of participating customers. The list of participating Operator Transfer Service customers will be updated monthly. The order in which participating customers will appear on the list will be initially determined by use of a lottery. For each subsequent monthly update, following the initial selection, the customers in the first position will be moved to the last position on the list. All other customers will be moved up one position. New Operator Transfer Service customers will be placed at the bottom of the list of participating customers pending the next monthly update.
